Strange Case of Mrs. McVane.

(From the Chicago Tribune.)
A case that is exciting much comment at Grand Jurors, Dak., is that of the supposed death of Mrs.
McVane, wife of E. McVane, a Northern Pacific official. She is lying at the Ingalls House either dead or in a state of trance so much resembling death that it is impossible to detect the difference. Twice before she has been supposed to be dead and then gave her friends a joyous surprise by coming to consciousness and her friends by a spell of fainting, but recovered and at dinner time went to her usual seat, but was about to seat herself when she was taken with another fainting spell and was removed to her room unconscious. There she gradually grew worse until respiration apparently ceased, and she now lies to all appearances dead. Some tokens of death are still lacking. There is no rigor mortis, and the features are as calm and lifelike as one in slumber. When feeling that she was losing consciousness Mrs. McVane earnestly requested an attendant to be sure she was dead before the burial took place. Her last words were: "My God, my God, don't bury me alive!" Her husband has arrived from Gliby. Everything possible will be done to resuscitate the woman.

A Dog Wearing Spectacles.

(From the Nelson County (Ky.) Record.) An aged hound, belonging to Mr. Charles Roby, has, for several months, been almost totally blind.
He no longer hunted the houndsman's bugle, but rambled about the yard in a dazed manner. A few days since some children, while playing with him, placed on his nose a pair of spectacles, which contained a powerful lens. He at once began to ramp about as he did in the days of puppyhood.
They were secretly fastened before his eyes, and on the following day, when the other dogs were called for the chase, he joined, and was in the lead when his glasses were pulled off by the prize. He immediately carried them to his master and evinced clearly that he wanted them replaced. When they were removed he whined and growled, but when replaced he shows his joy by the wagging of his tail.

Early Morning Fire in Brooklyn.

Fire broke out in the three-story frame building, at Myrtle avenue, Brooklyn, owned by Edward Bromson, of Providence, R. I., at 3 o'clock this morning. The first floor was occupied by John Wilson as a dry-goods store. He estimates the damage to stock and fixtures at $5,000. The second and third floors were used as a photographic studio by Daniel Palmer. His loss is about $200. The damage to the building is about $1,000. The whole is covered by insurance. The fire is supposed to have originated from an overheated stove in the cellar.

DON'T BE HUMBUGGED.
A WORD OF WARNING.

At this season of the year the majority of wholesale clothiers form syndicates and palm off their REFUSE and SHODDY stocks as best they can. When you see flaring advertisements announcing such sales make up your mind that it is a FAKE.

We therefore say don't be misled, but patronize only houses that have a standing reputation.

THE LONDON & LIVERPOOL CLOTHING CO.,

86 AND 88 BOWERY,
